'Stimulus is not a one-time affair'

At a broader level, the Indian economy will see near-zero growth and the actual tax collectors will also be in that range, says Finance Secretary AJAY BHUSHAN PANDEY. In an interview with Dilasha Seth & Indivjal Dhasmana, Pandey focyses on the need to sustain this growth momentum and to rein in the pandemic without compromising on economic activity. Edited excerpts:

Do we expect another round of stimulus in November?

We have received suggestions from the Confederation of Indian Industry, Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce & Industry, Confederation of All India Traders, micro, small, and medium enterprises (MSMEs) and other ministries to identify the stressed sectors. Over the past seven months, we have kept our lines of communication and dialogue open with the industry and other sections of the population to frame our response. We are receiving their suggestions and will take a holistic view. But it is very difficult to give a timeline.

How different will be the Budget-making exercise this year?

There is demand revival. Goods have started moving, indicated by e-way bill generation. Covid numbers are coming down and the recovery rate is higher. For the budgetary exercise, we are constantly reviewing the situation. Each sector will get reflected in our Budget proposals.

“ EVEN FOR A NEAR-ZERO SITUATION, YOU HAVE TO SHOW STRONG POSITIVE PERFORMANCE IN H2 ”

AJAY BHUSHAN PANDEY
Finance secretary

What will be the focus of the Budget?

We are in discussions with stakeholders. The Department of Expenditure is meeting every department and collating suggestions and needs. I have written to all states, asking them to send in their suggestions. We have also written to industry bodies, MSMEs, and trade associations. The Budget discussions will be via videoconferencing this year as it has become the norm.

Over ₹1 trn GST collection...

Eight million input-output summary returns were filed in October. Jain said this was because the last date for claiming input tax credit for 2019-20 was September 30 and a lot of companies must have carried out a yearly reconciliation and asked their vendors to file returns or report missing transactions, among other factors.

"We remain as yet unconvinced on the persistence of this trend after the festive season is over, after the pent-up demand is fulfilled," said Aditi Nayar, principal economist, ICRA.

M S Mani, senior director at Deloitte, said GST collection indicated a definite revival in consumption and festive

Amid lingering uncertainty due to Covid, will next year's Budget targets be reviewed mid-year?

In the entire budgetary system, we have a Budget Estimate. The first revision happens during the monsoon session. The inbuilt system is there to review and keep revising estimates through supplementary proposals.

How much shortfall are you expecting in this year's revenue targets?

In certain months this fiscal year, we have had lower revenue — both direct tax and indirect tax. It is now starting to show positive signs. At a broader level, the economy will see near-zero growth. If that happens, the actual tax collections will also be in that range. We need to sustain this growth momentum. For that, we need to take adequate precautions to rein in the pandemic without compromising on economic activity.

How much slippage in fiscal deficit are you expecting this year?

We will know when we work out the Revised Estimates.

Have any of the opposing states responded to the GST compensation proposal of borrowing ₹1.1 trillion yet?

The FM has written to the CMs and requested them to avail of the options, so that the money can be given to them. We remain engaged with them and will continue to convince them to avail of the option and take the money. They're welcome to join any time.
